Welcome to the First School blog!!! We are so excited to launch this new platform for our parents and community. This blog will be a place that we post articles, ideas and activities, guest blog posts, and all sorts of fun things.

We understand that as a parent there are lots of questions...Why is my child doing this? How do I potty train? What do I do when my child stops napping? What do I make for dinner tonight? We hope this is a place where we can direct you to some answers to these questions and more.

There are all kinds of fun things to do with your child inside and out. At home and in our community. Day trips and road trips. We will provide some great ideas for you, your child and family in this space.

Our school and community are filled with great, knowledgeable parents and professionals that will be sharing their wisdom and ideas with us. It can be great to get other parents prospective on things that we are dealing with.

We are so excited to launch this blog as part of our website and school communication with our First School families and communities.
